

Have you ever considered
How would you assist a diver in distress?

During your Open Water and Advanced Open Water courses, you concentrated on your skills and how you should dive safely.

Step up your skills so you are able to assist other divers in difficulty. This course is a major step forward for any diver; rather than just being able to help yourself, as a Rescue Diver you will be trained to help others.

I guarantee small training groups of maximum five students and a very thorough course. Call me to reserve your place on my

PADI Rescue Diver Course
